The following is a copy in full of President Harrison's annual message to Congress, delivered to the Senate and House to-day: To the Senate and House of Representatives:

The reports of the several Executive De sartments, which will be laid before Congres The reports of the several Executive Departments, which will be laid before Congress in the usual course, will exhibit in detail the operations of the Movement for the last fiscal year. Only the mere important incidents and results and chiefly such as may be the foundation of the recommendations I shall submit, will be referred to in this annual message. The vast and in comment the usual message. The vast and in comment the usual message. Government has then transacted by the several departments during the year with faithfulness, energy and success. The revenues, amounting to above $450,000,000, have been collected and disbursed without revealing, so far as I can ascertain, a single case of defalcation or embezzlement. An earnest effort has been made to stimulate a sense of responsibility and public duty in all officers and employes of every grade, and the work done by them has aim-st wholly escaped unfavorable criticism. I speak of these matters with freedom, because the credit of this good work is not mine, but is shared by the heads of the several departments with the great body of feithful officers and employes who serve

Foreign Relations.

The friendly relations of our country with the nations of Europe and of the East have been undisturbed, while the ties of good will and common interest that bind us to the States of the Western Hemisphere have been notably strengthened by the conference held in this capital to consider measures for the general welfare. Pursuant to the invitation authorized by Congress, the representatives of every independent State on the American continent and of Hayti met in conference in this capital in October, 1889, and continued in session until the 19th of last April. This important convocation marks a most in teresting and influential epoch in the history of the Western hemisphere. It is noteworthy that Brazil, invited while under an Imperial form of Government, shared as a Republic in the deliberations and results of the conference. The recommendations of this conference were all transmitted to Congress at the of the Western Hemisphere have been notably ence were all transmitted to Congress at the

THE INTERNATIONAL MARINE CONFERENCE. The International Marine Conference which sat at Washington last winter reached a very gratifying result. The regulations suggested have been brought to the attention of all the Governments represented and their general adoption is confidently expected. The legis-lation of Congress at the last session is in conformity with the propositions of the con-ference and the proclamation therein pro-vided for will be issued when the other powers have given notice of their adhesion.

THE BRUSSELS CONFERENCE. The conference of Brussels to devide means for suppressing the slave trade in Africa, afforded an opportunity for a new expression of the interest the American people feel in that great work. It soon became evident that the measure proposed would tax the resources of the Congo Basin, beyond the revenues available under the general act of Berlin of 1884. The United States, not being a party to that act, oduld not share in its revision, but by a separate act the Independent State of the Conge was freed from the restrictions upon a customs revenue. The democralizing and destructive traffic in ardent spirks among the tribes also claimed the earnest attention of the conference, and the delegites of the United States were foremost in silvocating measures for its repression. An accord was reached, the influence of which will be very heipful and extend over a wide region. As soon as these measures shall receive the sanction of the Netherlands, for a time withheld, the general acts will be aubmitted for ratification by the Senate. Meanwhile hegotiations have been opened for a new and complete treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation between the Congo.

THE BRAZILIAN REPUBLIC. Toward the end of the past year the only Western Continent, that of Brazil, ceased to exist and was succeeded by a republic. Dipexist and was snoceeded by a republic. Diplomatic relations were at once established with the new Government, but it was not completely recognized until an apportunity had been afforded the acceptain that it had popular appreval and support. When the course of events had yielded assurances of this fact, no time was lost in extending the new Government a full and cordial welcome into the family of Ambrican commonwealths. It is confidently believed that the good relations of the two countries will be preserved, and that the funns will witness an increased intimacy of intercourse and an expansion of their mutual commerce.

been disturbed through a revolutionary by other States, and hostilities broke out be-tween Salvador and Guatemaia, threatening to involve all Central America in cenflict and to undo the progress which had been made toward a union of their interests. The efforts of this government were promptly and zealously exercised to compose their differences, and through the active efforts of the representa-tive of the United States a provisional treaty of peace was signed Aug. 25, whereby the right of the republic of Salvador to choose its own rulers was recognized. Gen. Exets, the Chief of the Provisional Government, has since been confirmed in the Presidency by the Assembly and diplomatic recognition duly followed. by other States, and hostilities broke out be-

The killing of Gen. Barrundia on board the Pacific Mail steamer Acapulco while anchored on transit in the port of San Jose de Guatedemanded careful inquiry. failed in a revolutionary attempt to invade Guatemala from Mexican territory Gen. Barrundia took passage at Acapuleo for Panama. The consent of the representatives of the United States was sought to effect his selzure, first at Champrico, where the steamer touched, and afterwards at San Jose. The Captain of the steamer refused to give up his passenger without a written order from the United States Minister; the latter furnished the desired letter, stipulating as the conditions of his action, that Gen. Barrundia's life should be spared and that he should be tried only for offenses growing out of his insurrectionary movements. This letter was presented to the Captain of the Acapulco by the military commander as San Jose as his warrant to take the passenger from the steamer. Gen. Barrundia resisted capture and was killed. It being evident that the Minister, Mr. Milsner, had exceeded the bounds of his authority in intervening, in compliance with the demands of the Guatemalan authorities, to authorize and effect, in violation of precedent, the scizure on a vasci of the United States of a passenger in transit charged with political effects in order that he might be held for such offenses under what was described as martial isw, I was constrained to disayow Mr. Mizner's act and recall him from his post. failed in a revolutionary attempt to invade

THE NICARAGUA CANAL PROJECT. The Nicaragua Canal project, under the con rol of our citizens, is making most encouraging progress, all the preliminary conditions and initial operations having been accomplished within the prescribed time.

THE CHILIAN CLAIMS. During the year negotiations have been re newed for the settlement of the claims of American citizens against the Government of Chill, principally growing out of the late war with Feru. The reports frem our Minister at Santiago warrant the expectation of an early and satisfactory adjustment.

CHINA. Our relations with China, which have for several years occupied so important a place in our diplomatic history, have called for careful consideration and have been the subject of much correspondence. The communi-cations of the Chinese Minister have brought into view the whole subject of our conven-tional relations with his country; and at the tional relations with his country; and at the same time this Government, through its legation at Peking, has sought to arrange various matters and complaints touching the interests and protection of our citizens in China. In pursuance of the concurrent resolution of Oct. 1, 1890. I have proposed to the Governments of Mexico, and Great Britain, to consider a conventional regulation of the passing of Chinese laborers across our Southern and Northern frontiers.

THE CARLOS BUTTERFIELD CLAIM. On the 22d day of August last, Sir Edmund ionson, the arbitrartor selected under the treaty of Dec. 6, 1888, rendered an award to Carlos Butterfield claim.

Our relations with the French Republic ontinue to be cordial. Our representative a that court has very diligently urged the renoval of the restrictions imposed upon our neat products, and it is believed that substantial progress has been made towards a just settlement.

SAMOAN AFFAIRS.

The Samoan treaty, signed last year at Berlin by the representatives of the United States, Germany and Great Britain, after due ratification and exchange, has begun to pro duce salutary effects. The formation of the Government agreed upon will soon replace the disorder of the past by a staple adminis-tration, alike just to the natives and equitable to the three powers most concerned in trade and intercourse with the Samoan Islands. The Chief Justice has been chosen by the King of Sweden and Norway on the invitation of or sweden and Norway on the invitation of the three powers and will soon be installed. The Land Commission and the Municipal Council are in process of organization. A rational and evenly distributed scheme of taxation, both municipal and upon imports, is in operation. Malietoa is respected as King. RELATIONS WITH GREAT BRITAIN. The new treaty of extradition with Great Britain, after due ratificatification, was proclaimed on the 25th of last March. Its beneficial working is already apparent. The differ-ence between the two Governments touching ence between the two Governments touching the fur seal question in the Behring Sea is not yet adjusted, as will be seen by the correspondence which will soon be laid before Congress. The offer to submit the question to arbitration, as proposed by Her Majesty's Government, has not been accepted, for the reason that the form of submission proposed is not thought to be calculated to assure a conclusion satisfactory to either party. It is sincerely hoped that before the opening of another sealing season some arrangements may be affected which will assure to the United States a preperty right, derived from Russis, which was not disregarded by any nation for more than eighty years preceding the outbreak of the existing troubles.

HAWAII AND THE M'KINLEY BILL. In the tariff act a wrong was done to the Kingdom of Hawati which I am bound to presume was wholly unintentional. Duties were between the United States and the Kingdom of Hawali without indicating the necessary exception in favor of that kingdom. I hope Congress will repair what might otherwise seem to be a preach of faith on the part of this government. cluced in the reciprocity treaty now existing

MR. VANBOKKEL'S CLAIM. An award in favor of the United States in the matter of the claim of Mr. Vanbokel against Hayti was rendered on Dec. 4, 1888, out owing to disorders then and afterwards port owing to disorders then and atterwards prevailing in Haysi, the terms of payment were not observed. A new agreement as to the time of payment has been approved and is now in force. Other just claims of citizens of the United States for redress of wrongs suffered during the late political conflict in Haysi will, it is hoped, speedly yield to friendly treatment.

EXTRADITION TREATY WITH ITALY. Prepositions for the amendment of the reaty of extradition between the United States and Italy are now under consideration. You will be asked to provide the means of ac cepting the invitation of the Italian Government to take part in an approaching conference to consuler the universal prime meridian from which to reckon longitude and time. As this proposal follows in the track of the reform sought to be initiated by the meridian conference of Washington, held on the invitation of this Government, the United States should manifest a friendly largress in the Italian preposal.

In this connection, I may refer with approval to the suggestion of my predecesors, that standing provision be made for accepting, whenever deemed advisable, the frequent invitation of foreign governments to share in conferences locking to the advancement of international reform in regard to science, sanitation, commercial laws and precedure, and other matters effecting the intercourse and pregress of modern commentations. cepting the invitation of the Italian Govern which for some time threatened to interrupt the cordiality of our relations with the Government of Portugal. That Government selze the Delagoa Bay Railway, which was constructed under a concession granted to an American artisan, and at the same time annuled the charter. The concessionary, who had embarked his fortune in the enterprise, having exhausted other means of redress, was compelled to invoke the protection of his Gevernment. Our representations, made coincidentally with those of the British Government, whose subjects were also largely interested, happily resulted in the recognition by Portugal of the propriety of submitting the claim for indemnity, growing out of its action, to arbitration. This plan of settlement having been agreed upon, the interested Powers really concurred in the proposal to submit the case to the judgment of three eminent jurists, to be designated by the President of the Swiss Republic, who, upon the joint invitation of the governments of the United States. Great Britain and who, upon the joint invitation of the govern-ments of the United States, Great Britain and Portugal, has selected persons well qualified for the task before them. The revision of our treaty relations with the Empire of Japan has continued to be the subect of consideration and of correspondence. The questions involved are both grave and telicate; and, while it will be my duty to see delicate; and, while twill be my duty to see that the interests of the United States are not by any changes exposed to undue discrimination, I sincerely hope that such revision as will satisfy the legitimate expectations of the Japanese Government and maintain the present and long existing friendly relations between Japan and the United States will be effected.

The friendship between our country and Mexico, bogn of close neighborhood and strengthened by many considerations of intimate intercourse and reciprocal interest, has never been more conspicuous than now, has never been more conspicuous than now, nor more hopeful of increased benefit to both nations. The intercourse of the two countries by rail, already great, is making constant growth. The established lines and those recently projected add to the intimacy of traffic and open new channels of access to fresh areas of demand and supply. The importance of the Mexican Railway system will be further enhanned, to a degree almost impossible to forecast, if it should become a link in the projected Inter-Continental Railway. I recommend that our mission in the City of Mexico be raised to the first class.

RELATIONS WITH SPAIN The cordial character of our relations with nance of methods of friendly negotiation, much may be accomplished in the direction of an adjustment of reading questions and of the increase of our trade. The extent and development of our trade with the Island of Cuba invest the commercial relations of the United States and Spain with a peculiar importance. It is not doubted that a special arrangement in regard to commerce, based upon the reciprocity provision of the recent tartifiact, would operate most beneficially for both Governments. This subject is now receiving attention.

JOHN ERICCSON. The restoration of the remains of John Ericcson to Sweden afforded a gratifying occasion to honor the memory of the great inventor, to whose genius our country owes so much, and to bear witness to the unbroken friendship which has existed between the land which bore him and our own, which claimed him as a citizen.

On the 2d of September last the commission ppointed to revise the proceedings of the commission under the Claims Convention beween the United States and Venezuela of 1986 brought its inbors to a close within the period brought its inbors to a close within the period fixed for that purpose. The proceedings of the late commission were characterized by a spirit of impartiality and a high sense-of justice and an incident, which was for many years the subject of discussion between the two Governments, has been disposed of in a manner alike honorable and satisfactory to both parties. For the settlement of the cisim of the Venezuela Steam Transportation Co., which was the subject of a joint resolution adopted at the last session of Congress, negotiations are still in progress and their early conclusion is anticipated.

THE CONSULAR SERVICE. The legislation of the past few years has evinced on the part of Congress a growing realization of the importance of the consular abroad and in protecting the domestic revenues. As the scope of operations expands, increased provision must be made to keep up the essential standard of efficiency. The necessity of some adequate measure of supervision and inspection has been so often presented that I need only commend the subject to your attention.

The revenues of the Government from all ources for the fiscal year ending June 30. 1890, were $463,963,080.55, and the total expenditures for the same period were $358.618.-584.52. The postal receipts have not hereto been included in the statefore been included in the statement of these aggregates, and for the purpose of comparison the sum of $50,882,097.92 should be deducted from both sides of the account. The surplus for the year, including the amount applied to the sinking fund, was $105,344,495.03. The receipts for 1890 were $16,030,923.79, and the expenditures $15,739,871 in excess of those of 1889. The customs receipts increased $5,835,842.88 and the receipts from internal revenue $11,725,191.89, while on the side of expenditures, that for pensions was $19,812,075.96 in excess of the preceding year.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES. The Treasury statement for the current fiscal year, partly actual and partly estimated, Receipts from all sources, $406,000,000; total expenditures, $354,000,000, leaving a surplus of $52,000,000—not taking the postal receipts into account on either side. The less of revenue from customs for the last quarter is estimated at $35,000,000 to from this is deducted a gain of about $16,000,000 realized during the first four months of the year.

For the year 1892 the tetal estimated receipts are $373,000,000 and the estimated expenditures $357,352,209,42, leaving an estimated surplus of $15,477,700.58 which, with a cash balance of $32,000,000 at the beginning of the year, will give $66,147,790.58 as the sum available for the redemption of eutstanding bonds or other uses. The estimates of receipts and expenditures for the Poet-office Department being equal are not included in this statement on either side. Receipts from all sources, $406,000,000; total

The act "directing the purchase of silver buillon and the issue of Treasury notes thereon," approved June 14, 1890, has been administered by the Secretary of the Treasury with an earnest purpose to get into diradmin intered by the Secretary of the Treatury with an earnest purpose to get into direulation at the earliest possible dates the full monthly amounts of Treasury notes contemplated by its provisions, and at the same time to give to the market for eliver buildon such support as the law centemplates. The recent depreciation in the price of silver has been observed with regret. The rapid rise in price which anticepated and followed the passage of the act was influenced in some degree by speculation, and the recent reaction is in part the result of the same cause and in part of the recent monetary disturbances. Some months of further trial will be necessary to determine the permanent effect of the recent legislation upon silver values, but it is gratifying to know that the increased circulation secured by the set has exerted and will continue the exert a more benealed influence upon business and upon general values. While it has not been thought best to renew formally the suggestion of an international Confusection for a greenent touching the full use of silver for coinage at a uniform ratio, care has been taken to observe closely any change in the situation abroad, and so favorable apportunity will be lost to promote treath varied. ticable limit have been unremitting, and in a very high degree successful. The tables presented by him, showing the increase of money in circulation during the last two decades, and especially the table showing the increase during the eighteen meaths he has administered the affairs of the department, are interesting and instructive. The increase of money in circulation during the nineteen months has been in the aggregate $93,866,813, or about $1.50 per capita, and of this increase only $7,100,000 was due to the recent silver legislation. That this substantial and needed aid given to commerce resulted in an enormous reduction of the public debt and of the annual interest charge is matter of increased satisfaction. There have been purchased and redeemed since higher 1,889, 4, and 419 per cent bonds to the amount of $211,832,450, at a cost of $246,620,741, resulting in the reduction of the annual interest charge of $8,967,609, and a total saving of THE INTERNAL REVENUE

I notice with great pleasure the statement of the Secretary that the receipts from internal revenue have increased during the last fiscal year nearly $12,000,000 and that the cost of collecting this larger revenue was less by $90,617 than for the same purpose in the pre-ceding year. The percentage of cost of col-lecting the customs revenue was less for the last fiscal year than ever before.

CUSTOMS ADMINISTRATION BOARD. ed for by the act of June 10, 1890, was salee with great care and is composed in part of men whose previous experience in the administration of the old customs regulations had made them familiar with the evils to be remedied, and in part of men whose legal and judicial acquirements and experience seemed to fit them for the work of interpreting and applying the new statute. The chief alm of the law is to secure honest valuations of all dutiable merchandles and to make these valuations autiens uniform at all ports of entry. It had been made manifest by a Congressional investigation that a system of under-valuation had been long in use by certain classes of importers, resulting not only in a great loss of revenue, but in a most intolerable discrimination against the honest. It is not seen how this legislation, when it is understood, can be regarded by the citizens of any country having commercial dealings with us as unfriendly. If any duty is supposed to be excessive let the complaint be lodged there. It will surely not be claimed by any well disposed people that a remedy may be sought and allowed in a system of quasi snuggling.

The Department of Justice.

The report of the Attorney-General is under the law submitted directly to Congress, but as the Department of Justice is one of the Executive D epartments, some reference to the work done is appropriate here. A vigorous and, in the main, an effective effort has been made to bring to trial and punishment all violators of the laws; but, at the same time, care has been taken that frivoloss and technical offenses should not be used to swell the fees of officers or to harass well-disposed citizens. Especial attention is called to the facts connected with the prosentation of violations of the election laws and offenses against United States officers. The number of convictions secured, very many of them upon pleas of guilty, will, it is hoped, have a salutary restraining influence. There have been several cases where postmasters appointed by the have been subjected to violent interference in the discharge of their efficial duties and to prosecutions and personal violence of the most extreme character. THE ANTI-LOTTERY LAW. The passage of the act to amend certain ctions of the revised statutes relating to lotteries, approved Sept. 19, 1890, has been re-ceived with great and deserved popular favor. The Post-office Department and the Department of Justice at once entered upon the enforcement of the inw with sympathetic vigor, and already the public mails have been largely freed from the fraudulent and demoralizing appeals and literature emanating from the lottery companies.

The Navy.

The construction and equipment of the new hips for the navy have made very satisfactory progress. Since March 4, 1889, nine new ves sels have been put in commission, and during this winter four more, including one monitor, will be added. The construction of the other vessels authorized is being pushed, both in the Government and private yards, with energy and watched with the most scrupulous

The experiments conducted during the year to test the relative resisting power of armor plates have been so valuable as to attract plates have been so valuable as to attract great attention in Europe. The only part of the work upon the new ships that is threatened by unusual delay is the armor plating, and every effort is being made to reduce that to the minimum. It is a source of congratulation that the anticipated influence of these modern vessels upon the espit de corps of the officers and seamen has been fully realized. Confidence and pride in the ship among the crew are equivalent to a secondary battery. Your tavorable consideration is invited to the recommendations of the Secretary.

Department of the Interior.

The report of the Secretary of the Interior exhibits with great fullness and clearness the vast work of that department and the satis-

vast work of that department and the satisfactory results attained. The suggestions made by him are earnestly commended to the consideration of Congress, though they canali be given particular mention here.

The several acts of Congress looking to the reduction of the larger Indian reservations, to the more rapid settlement of the Indians upon Individual silotments and the restoration to the public domain of lands in excess of their needs, have been largely carried into effect so far as the work was confined to the executive. Agreements have been concluded since March 4, 1889, Involving the cession to the United States of about 14,726,000 acres of land. These contracts have, as required by law, been submitted to Congress for ratification and for the appropriations necessary to carry them into effect. Those with the Sisston and Wahpeton, Sac and Fox, Iowa, Pottawatomies and Shawnees, and Cour D'Alene tribes have not yet received the sanction of Congress. Attention is also called to the fact that the appropriations made in the case of the Sioux Indians have not covered all the stipulated payments. This should be premptly the appropriations made in the case of the Bloux Indians have not sovered all the atlpulated payments. This should be premptly corrected. If an agreement is confirmed all of its terms should be compiled with without delay, and full appropriations should be made.

THE PUBLIC DOMAIN.

The policy outlined in my last annual mes sage in relation to the patenting of lands to office. No general suspicion nor imputation of fraud has been allowed to delay the hearing and adjucation of individual cases upon their merits. The purpose has been to perfect the title of honest settlers with such promptness that the value of the entry might not be swallowed up by the expense and extertions to which delay subjected the claimant. The average monthly issue of agricultural patents has been increased about six thousand. ried out in the administration of the Land-

The disability pension act, which was approved on the 27th of June last, has been put into operation as rapidly as was practicable. The increased clerical force as provided was pelected and assigned to work, and a considerable part of the force engaged in examinations in the field was recalled and added to the working force of the office. The examination and adjudication of claims have, by reasen of improved methods, been more rapid than ever before. There is no economy to the Government in delay, while there is much hardship and injustice to the soldier. The anticipated expenditure, while very large, will not, it is believed, be in excess of the estimates made before the enactment of the law. This liberal enlargement of the zeneral law should suggest a more careful scrutiny of bills for special relief, both as to the cases where relief is granted and as to the amount allowed. into operation as rapidly as was practicable.

THE MORMONS. The increasing numbers and influence of the mon-Mormon population in Utah are observed with great satisfaction. The recent letter of Church, in which he advised his people "to refrain from contracting any marriage forbiddes by the laws of the land," has attracted wide attention and it is hoped that its influence will be highly beneficial in restraining infractions of the law of the United States.

THE PATENT OFFICE. The work of the Patent Office has won from all sources very high commendation. The amount accomplished has been very largely increased and all the results have been such as to secure confidence and consideration for the suggestions of the Dommissioner.

The completion of this centennial enumeration devoles upon Congress the duty of making a new apportionment of Repre-sentatives 'among the several States, accord-ing to their respective numbers.''

PUBLIC BUILDINGS. At the last session I had occasion to return with my objections several bills making provisions for the erection of public buildings, for the reason that the expenditures contemplated were, in my opinion, greatly in excess of any public need. No class of legislation is more liable to abuse, or to degenerate into an unseemly scramble about the public treasury, than this. There should be exercised in this matter a wise economy based upon some responsible and impartial examination and report as to each case under a general law.

CATTLE INSPECTION. The efforts of the Secretary to establish the aging imputations that have been put upon them abroad have resulted in substantial progress. Veterinary surgeons sent out by the idepartment are now allowed to participate in the inspection of the live cattle from this country landed at the English docks, and duing the several months they have been on duty no case of contugious pieuro-pneumonia has been reported. This inspection abroad and the domestic inspection abroad and the domestic inspection of live animals and pork products, provided for by the act of Aug. 30, 1890, will afford as perfect a guaranty for the wholesomeness of our means offered for foreign consumption as is anywhere given to any food product, and its non-acceptance will quite clearly revenit the substantial product of the service of the substantial product of the substantial product of the substantial product of the substantial products and the wages of American work-men.

any food product, and its non-acceptance will quite clearly reveal the real motive of any continued restriction of their use; and, that having been made clear, the duty of the executive will be very plain. THE BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY. The information given by the Secretary of the progress and prospects of the beet sugar industry is full of interest. It has already industry is full of interest. It has already passed the experimental stage and is a commercial success. The area over which the augar beet can be successfully cultivated is very large, and another field crop of great value is offered to the choice of the farmer.

The Secretary of the Treasury concurs in the recommendation of the Secretary of Agriculture that the official supervision provided by the tariff law for sugar of domestic production shall be transferred to the Department of Agriculture.

The Civil Service Law.

The law relating to the civil service has, so ar as I can learn, been executed by those having the power of appointment in the naving the power of appointment in the classified service with fidelity and impar-tiality and the service has been increasingly satisfactory. The report of the commission shows a large amount of good work done dur-ing the year with very limited appropriations.

Legislation.

I congratulate the Congress and the country apon the passage at the first session of the Fifty-first Congress of an unusual number of aws of very nigh importance. That the remits of this legislation will be the quickening and enlargement of our manufacturing in-dustries, larger and better markets for our breadstuffs and provisions both at home and abroad, more constant employments and bet-ter wages for our working people, and an increased supply of a safe currency for the transaction of business, I do not doubt. Some of these measures were enacted at so late a period that the beneficial effects upon commerce which were in the contemplation of Congress have as yet but partially mani-fested themselves.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY. The general trade and industrial conditions broughout the country during the year have shown a marked improvement. For many years prior to 1888 the merchandise balances of foreign traue had been largely in cur favor, but during that year and the year following they turned against us. It is very gratifying to know that the last fiscal year again shows a balance in our favor of over 568,000,000. The bank clearings, which furnish a good test of the volume of business transacted, for the first ten months of the year 1890 show, as compared with the same menths of 1889, an increase for the whole country of about 8.4 per cent, while the increase outside of the city of New York was over 18 per cent. During the month of October the elearings of the whole country showed an increase of 3.1 per cent over October, 1899, while outside of New York the increase was 11½ per cent. These figures show that the increase in the volume of business was very general throughout the country. That this larger business was being conducted upon a safe and profitable basis is shown by the fact that there were three hundred less failures reported in October, 1890, than in the same month of the preceding year, with ilabilities diminished be about 50,000,000. hown a marked improvement. EXPORTS. The value of our exports of domestic mer handles during the last year was over $115,000,000 greater than the preceding year and was only exceeded once in our history. been 183 per cent greater in 1890 than in 1880, and the production of steel 290 per cent greater. Mining in coal has had no limitation except that resulting from deficient transportation. The general testimony is that labor is everywhere fully employed, and the reports for the last year show a smaller numbor of employees affected by strikes and lock outs than in any year since 1884. The depression in the prices of agricultural hopeful tone was beginning to be felt by all our people. These promising influences have been in some degree checked by the surprision in some degree checked by the surprision in the prices of agricultural tiles gratifying to know that these did not grow in any degree out of the financial relations of London with our people or out of any discredit attached to our securities held in that market. The return of our bonds and stocks was caused by a money stringency in England, not by any loss of value or credit in the securities themselves. We could not however wholly escape the ill effects of a foreign monetary gritation, accompanied by such extraordinary incidents as characterized this. It is not believed, however, that these evil incidents, which have received them should refuse the intention of the country, can long withstand the strong as safe and wholesome influences which are operating to kive our people profitable received them should refuse to give us suitable reciprocal benefits. TARIFF REVISION.

There is neither wisdom nor policy in the suggestion that the subject of act, which has been so which passed instead to me and abroad, will be corrected by experience and the evil auguries as to its results confounded by the market reports, the savings banks, international trade balances and the general prosperity of our people. Already we begin to hear from abroad and from our oursem, houses that the problibitors effect.

The criticisms of the bill that have come to us from foreign sources may well be rejected for repugnancy. If these critics really believe that the adoption by us of a free trade policy or of tariff rates having reference solely to revenue, would diminish the participation of their owa countries in the commerce of the world, their advocay and promotion by speech and other forms of organized effort of this movement among our people is a rare exhibition of unselfishness in trade. And on the other hand, if they sincerely believe that the adoption of a protective tariff policy by this country inures to their profit and our hurt, it is noticeably strange that they should lead the outery against the authors of a policy so helpful to their countrymen and crown with their favor those who would snatch from them a substantial share of a trade with other lands already inadequate to their necessities.

PROMIBITIONY OR RETALIATORY LEGISLATION.

PROHIBITORY OR RETALIATORY LEGISLATION There is no disposition among any of our people to promote prohibitory or retaliator; egislation. Our policies are adopted not to those advantages that fairly grow out of our favored position as a nation. Our form of government, with its incident of universal government, with its incident of universal suffrage, makes it imperative that we shall save our working people from the agitations and distresses which scant work and wages that have no margin for comfort always beget. But after all this is done, it will be found that our markets are open to friendly commercial exchanges of enormous value to the other great Powers.

From the time of my induction into office the duty of using every power and influence given by law to the Executive department for the development of larger markets for our products, especially our farm products, has been kept constantly in mind, and no efforthas been or will be spared to promote that products, especially our laim products, has been kept constantly in mind, and no effort has been or will be spared to promote that end. We are under no disalvantage in any foreign market, except that we pay our workmen and workwomen better wages than are paid elsewhere—better abstractly, better relatively to the cost of the necessarios of life. I do not doubt that a very largely increased foreign trade is accessible to us without bartering either our home market for such products of the farm and shop as our own people can supply, or the wages of our working people. In many of the products of wood and iron, and in meats and breadstuffs, we have advantages that only need better facilities of internourse and transportation to secure for them large foreign markets. The reciprocity elause of the tarif act wisely and effectively opens the way to scoure a large reciprocal trade in exchange for the free admission to our ports of certain products. The right of independent nations to make amount recovery.

New Legislation,

In addition to the important bills that became laws before the adjournment of the last session, some other bills of the highest imsession, some other bills of the highest importance were well advanced toward a final vote and now stand upon the calendars of the two Houses in favored positions. The present session has a fixed limit, and if these measures are not now brought to a final vote all the work that has been done upon them by this Congress is lost. The proper consideration of these, of an apportionment bill and of the annual appropriation bills, will require not only that no working day of the session shall be lost, but that measures of minor and local interest shall not be allowed to interrupt or retard the progress of those that are of universal internot be allowed to interrupt or retard the progress of those that are of universal interest. In view of these conditions, I refrain from bringing before you at this time some suggestions that would otherwise be made, and most earnestly invoke your attention to the duty of perfecting the important legislation now well advanced. To some of these measures which seem to me most important I now bytefice. seem to me most important I now briefly call your attention.

AMERICAN STEAMSHIP LINES. I desire to repeat with added prgency the recommendations contained in my last annual message in relation to the development of American steamship lines. The reciprocity clause of the tariff bill will be largely limited, and its benefits retarded and diminished, if provision is not contemporaneously made to encourage the establishment of first-class steam communication between our ports and the ports of such nations as may meet our overtures for enlarged commercial exchanges. The steamship carrying the mails statedly and frequently and offering to passengers a comfortable, safe and speedy transit, is the first condition of foreign trade. It carries the order or the buyer, but not all that is ordered or bought. It gives to the sailing vessel such cargoes as are not urgent or perishable, and, indirectly at least, promotes that important adjunct of commerce. There is now both in this country and in the nations of Central and South America a state of expectation and confidence as to increased trade that will give a double value to your prompt action upon this question. message in relation to the development o

THE AUSTRALIAN MAIL.

The present situation of our mail communi-cation with Australia lisestrates the importance of early action by Congress. The oceanic Steamship Co. maintains a line of ateamers between San Francisco, Sydney and Auckiand consisting of three vessels, two of which are United States registry and one of foreign registry. For the service done by this line in carrying the mails we pay annually the sum of $46,000, being, as estimated, the full sea and United States in land postage, which is the limit fixed by law. The colonies of New South Wales and New Zealand have been paying annually to take lines £37,000 for carrying the mails from Sydney and Auckland to San Francisco. The contract under which this payment has been made is now about to expire, and those colonists have refused to renew the contract unders the whole sum necessary to maintain the service. I am advised by the Postmaster-General that the United States receives for carrying the Australian mail asks brought to Sai Francisco in these steamers by rail to Vancouver an estimated annual income of $76,000, while I have stated, we are paying out for she aupport of the steamship line that bring this mail to us only $46,000, saving an annual surplus resulting from this service of $29,000. The trade of the United States with Australia, which is in a considerable part carried by these ateaments, and the whole of which is practically dependent upon the mail communication which they maintain, is largely in our favor. Our total exports of merchandise to Australian ports of merchandise to multiple states with Australia, which is in a considerable part carried by these to Australian ports of merchandise to multiple states with Australia, which is in a considerable part carried by these to Australian ports of merchandise to multiple states with Australia, which is in a considerable part carried by these to Australian ports of merchandise to australian per not me

The very large appropriation made at the last session for the harbor of Galveston was justified, as it seemed to me, by these considerations. The great Northwest will feel the advantage of trunk lines to the South as well as to the East and of the new markets opened for their surplus food products, and for many of their manufactured products.

THE INTERNATIONAL-AMERICAN BANK. I had occasion, in May last, to transmit to Congress a report adopted by the Inter-national American Conference upon the subject of the incorporation of an international American bank, with a view to facilitating money exchange between the States represented in that conference. Such an imstitution would greatly promote the trade we are seeking to develop. I renew the recommendation that a careful and well-guarded charter be granted. I do not think the powers granted should include those ordinarily exercised by trust, guaranty and safe denosit companies, or that more branches in the United States should be anthorized than are strictly necessary to accomplish the object primarily in view, namely, convenient foreign exchanges. It is quite important that prompt action should be taken in this matter, in order that any appropriations for better communication with these countries, and any agreements that may be made for reciprocal trade may not be hindered by the inconvenience of making exchanges through European money centers, or burdened by the tribute which is an incident of that method of business. ject of the incorporation of an international

The bill for the relief of the Supreme Court has, after many years of discussion, reacheda position where final action is easily attainable, and it is hoped that any differences of opinion may be so harmonized as to save the essential features of this very important measure. In this connection I earnestly re-new my recommendation that the salaries of the Judges of the United States District Courts be so readjusted that none or them shall re-ceive less than $5,000 per annum.

SPANISH AND MEXICAN LAND GRANTS. The subject of the unadjusted Spanish and Mexican lang grants and the urgest necessity for providing some commission or tribunal for the trial of questions of title growing out of them, were twice brought by me to the attention of Congress at the last session. Bills have been reported from the proper committees in both houses upon the subject, and I were earnestly hope that this Congress will put an end to the deny which has attended the settlement of the disputes as to title between the settlers and claimants under these grants. These disputes retard the prosperity and disturb the peace of large and important communities. The Governor of New Mexico, in his last report to the Secretary of the Interior, suggests some modifications not provisious of the pending bills relating to the small holdings of farm lands. I commend to your attention the suggestions of the Secretary of the Interior upon this subject.

distribution of the water supply of the arid regions has had much attention from Congress, but has not yet been put upon a permanent or satisfactory basis. The urgency of the subject does not grow out of any large present demand for the use of these lands for agriculture, but out of the danger that the water supply and the sites for the necessary catch basins may fall labot the hands of individuals or private corporations and be used to render subservient the large areas dependent upon such supply. The owner of the water is the owner of the lands, however the titles may run. All unappropriated natural water sources and all necessary reservoir sites shold be held by the Government for the equal use, at fair rates, of the homestead settlers who will eventually take up these lands. The United States should not, in my opinion, undertake the construction of dams or canals, but should limit its work to such surveys and observations as will determine the water supply, both surface and subterranean, the areas capable of irrigation and the use, location and storage capacity of reservoirs. This dose, the use of the water and reservoir sites might be granted to the respective States and Territories, or to individuals or associations, upon the condition that the necessary works should be constructed and the water furnished at fair rates, without discrimination, she rates to be subject to supervision by the Legislature or by hoards of Water Commissioners duly constituted. The essential thing to be secured is the common and equal use at fair rates of accumulated water supply. It were almost better that these lands should remain arid. than those who occupy them should become the slaves of unrestrained mon opolies controlling the one and essential element of land values and crop results.

ELECTION LAWS. If any intelligent and loyal company of American citizens were required to catalogue the essential humane conditions of national life, I do not doubt that with absolute unanimity they would begin with free and honest elections. And it is gratifying to know, generally there is a growing and non-partisan demand for better election laws. But against this sign of hope and progress must be set the depressing and undeniable fact that election laws and methods are sometimes onningly contrived to secure minority control, while vielence completes the shortcomings of fraud.

In my last annual message I suggested that the development of the existing law, providing a Federal supervision of Congressional elections, offered an effective method of reforming these abuses. The need of each is law country, and its wholesome restraints and penalities will be useful in all. The constitutionality of such legislation has been affirmed by the Supreme Court. I also renew my recommendation in favor of legislation affording just copyright and protection to foreign author on a footing of recipitorial and an elector to the ballot be absolutely non-partials and open that none shall gainsay it. Such a law should be absolutely non-partials and important in the control of majorities. Surely there is nothing sectional about this creed, and if it shall happen that the penalties of law interested to have uniformity and increased affectly in the use of couplers and brakes upon freight trains engaged in interstate commence. The killing of a United States Marshal carrying a writ of arrest for an election offense is full of prompting and suggestion to men who are pursued by a City Marshal for a crime against life or property. But it is said that this legislation will revive ince animosities, and some have even suggested that when the peaceful methods of fraud are made impossible that they may be supplemented by intimidation and violence. If the proposed law gives to any qualified elector by a hair's weight mere than his equal influence, or detracts by so much from any other qualified elector, it is fatally impeached. But if the law is equal and the animosities it is to evoke grow out of the fact that some electors have been accussomed to exercise the franchise for others as well as for themselves, then these animosities ought not to be confersed without shame and cannot be given any weight on the discussion without dishonor. The body of Dr. Stiepel will probto-morrow, be cremated a post-mortem held at a late hour this afternoon, which may add probably the most startling features vet brought out in the mysterious affair. It is stated that it may be discovered that the wounds inflicted on the deceased, Nov. 21, were not the cause of death and that the real cause will pe proved to be of a nature that will throw some deeper mystery about the case, and open up a new field of investigation. The post mortem will be conducted by Dr. A. C. Bernays and Coroner Irwin.

AN INSURANCE MYSTERY.

The fact that Dr. Stlepei 'carried' $69,000 life insurance, a large portion of which was taken out only a short time previous to his death, and that he betrayed great nervousness and anxlety in applying for the later policies, is what threw the first element of suspicion around his shooting and the stories coming from insurance sources gave the element of sensationalism to the affair, now trebly increased by the death of the central figure of the mystery. The various companies in which Dr. Stlepel was insured are positive this morning in their statements that the policies on his life will not be paid until full investigation has been made, but beyond this fact the agents will state nothing more definite.

It so happens, however, that there was one company which refused to take a rink on Dr. Statefe's life, the Merchanta' Life Association of the United States, and Manager Wm. A. Ellis of that company is the only insurance man connected with the case who will speak of Ellis of that company is the only insurance man connected with the case who will speak of it unreservedly following the doctor's death. Mr. Ellis this morning made a statement of his own belief in the matter which is of a most startling nature, and which may be shared by the representatives of companies so unfortunate as to have written policies on Dr. Stiepei's life.

"I not only believe that Dr. Stiepei was insue," a sid Mr. Ellis, "but I believe that some person, working upon his diseased mind, persuaded him to insure his life and to consent to believe that some berson, working third in a way that would appear accidents. This is a bold statement, but I will seon give my reasons for it. When Dr. Stiepei applied for insurance in this company his manner convinced me that he was of unsound mind. When he was examined by our physician, Dr. H. C. Harkin, that gentleman reported tavorably on the physical risk, but in his letter accompanying the official report, stated that he believed Dr. Stiepei was of unsound mind. In applying for the insurance the man was strangely solicitions as to whether the policy would be paid in case of his accidental death, asking me about that feature of it averes that he faiture of it is avered by such a that accidental death, asking me about that feature of it avered that he faiture of it is avered that he does not contain that he was the parties of the section of the printing that accident that he sections that he was the parties of the section of the part

STORIES OF DOMESTIC UNHAPPINESS.

The death of Dr. Stiepel apparently indorses other stories that were not made public while he was still living, and which point to the fact that the home life of the deceased was not happy. A prominent physician stated this morning that some time before his death Stiepel stated to him that he was having trouble at home, that his wife's money, which was in her own name, was causing disagreement between them, his own income being insufficient to defray slithe household expenses, and that Mrs. Stiepel was continually urging him to take out insurance on his life, which he did to such an amount that the payment of the premiums on same still further complicated his tinaucial troubles. Investigations made by insurance companies also indicated the fact that his family relations were not of the happiest, one physician making the statement to the examining physician of an insurance company that Stiepel's life at home was "a heli on earth." These stories of his unhappy domestic life came, it is said, from the very people to whom! Dr. Stiepel had referred the company in their customary investigations made in such case.

CONFLICTING PROFESSIONAL OPINION.

The New York Life and the Travelers' Accident Insurance Cos., in both of which the deceased carried policies, were seen this morning through their representatives, and stated that there would be no meeting of insurance men interested in the case, but that investigations of the cause of death would, of course, be made before paying the policies. Important developments were expected to result from the post mortem, as there is already a conflict of professional opinion between the two doctors who attended the deceased following the shooting.

Dr. H. C. Daidon of the City Hospital, who was the first to attend Dr. Stiepel, was apprehensive of serious results from the start. The day following the shooting Dr. Daiton stated to a Post-Dispatch reporter that though the shot had evidently been fired from a considerable distance, and that the wound was inflicted by small duck shot, such as a boy would have used in shooting at casts or birds, there were indications that one of the two balls had pesetrated the brain. balls had pesetrated the brain.
Dr. Dalton said that the fact that fever had developed so soon after the inflicting of the wound was an almost infailible sign that the brain had been injured, and while he feared to probe the wound, he anticipated that his idea of its serious nature would he werified.

The expectation of such discoveries is strong, both in the minds of issurance men and of the physicians interested in the case, with the exception of Dr. Dalton, who is firmly convinced that Dr. Stiepel's shooting was entirely accidental.

My theory that Dr. Stiepel has been under the control of some person who indended him to consent to having his lines, also believes his mind was affected. My theory that Dr. Stiepel has been on the case of an insane person, but I think the future developments in the case will bear me out. If so, it will form one of the most remarkable cases ever brought to light.

THE MESSAGE.

President HARRISON'S second annual message was written under the influence of very depressing election returns, and the effect on the document has been to make it ridiculously reserved and vague in some parts—as ridiculously wordy and controversial in others and visibly dull all through.

The most interesting references in it to our foreign relations are the announcement of the tardy recall of MIZNER on account of his terrible blunder in the Barrundia affair; the mumbling paragraph which takes the place of a frank admission that the Administration's bluff on the Canadian fisheries and Behring Sea questions was not only a failure but a humiliating flasco, and the paragraph regretting the wrong done by the McKinley bill to Hawaii. The President who signed that bill a few weeks ago, now asks Congress to repair the wrong it does to Hawaii, but he is still unable to see any wrong it does to our own people.

On the contrary, he congratulates Congress on the work the people have just rebuked so emphatically, and claims that it will, with the aid of BLAINE's reciprocity antidote, increase wages and improve our markets at home and abroad. The part of the message in which he threshes over the old campaign chaff on that subject is evidently brightened up with hints from BLAINE, which indicate that the Secretary is a bigger man in the Administration now than before the election.

As to other administration work there are some queerly feeble attempts to claim that increased business activity and better markets for farm products are the direct results of the new silver law, WINDOM's flushing the currency by paying out $246,000,000 for $211,000,000 of bonds and JERE RUSK's efforts as Agricultural Secretary. He says the civil service law has been enforced, but says nothing about his refusal to extend it when he had opportunities to fulfill his promise.

In carrying out the Casabianca act the President appeals to Congress to finish the work begun last session, subsidy bills, election bills, reapportionment and all, and warns Republican members that their opportunity will soon pass away, and that this consideration restrains him from suggesting new measures. He leaves his 1837 to 1841. party in the wilderness of defeat waiting for a new Moses.

PARNELL'S APPEAL.

Mr. PARNELL's appeal to the Irish people is in substance a declaration that the home rule GLADSTONE would give Ireland, as the fruit of a Liberal victory at the polls, won with the Irish contingent under any other leadership than PARNELL'S. would be such as she ought not to accept or such as would at least be less desirable than the continued independence of the Irish Parliamentary party under PAR-NELL's leadership.

In support of this position he unhesitatingly gave his version of private and confidential talks held by him with GLAD-STONE and MORLEY. This revelation of the secrets of councils of war held by party leaders seems to shock English publie opinion even more than his O'Shea affair, to which he makes no reference at Harvard College. all. Even if his version of GLADSTONE'S home rule programme had stood uncontradicted, and the question of personal dishonor in that and the other matter is waived by the Irish people, they must be impressed by the extreme egotism of his land's benefit. The response of the Irish people to this appeal is anxiously awaited by their friends all over the world.

SECRETARY WINDOM'S table showing kendooff. that the circulation of money throughout the country has increased from $19.97 per | can-can in the Paris dancing balls is known as more satisfactory if he had not availed himself of PORTER's discredited figures to people in this country, and leaving several millions entirely out of the calculation, currency now in circulation is large self. enough to give each man, woman and child $23.96, and by comparing this with the per capita of 1870, when the Republican policy of contraction was forcing us into the great panic of 1873, and into the long period of stagnation and lockouts lasting until the Bland silver bill was passed over the veto of a Republican President in 1878, he manages to show that the currency has expanded more rapidly than our population, socording to PORTER's figures. This is the weighing out dressed beef to them. It is the Plutocrats would operate to suit their own interests.

> THE Indian trouble as well as the census trouble is now charged to the littleness of the spoils system. Against the protests of the civil service reformers and the Indian Rights Association, experienced and successful Indian agents were removed to make places for inexperienced men who had been promised "something equally as good" for campaign services. The threatened outbreaks at the agencies now in a state of siege are believed to be due in a great measure to the mismanagement, blunders and fears of incapable agents who know very little about their business and nothing at all about the character of the Indians under their charge.

SECRETARY TRACY is appalled at the defenseless condition of his Brooklyn home and at the size of the ransom a hostile fleet could extort from New York capital ists by threatening to destroy their town. Out West the people believe that New York is in less danger of such a visit now from a hostile fleet than it ever was before, and that no war is likely to occur without giving them time to provide ample defense for their coast cities before any hostile fleet could cross the ocean. They believe, however, that the big guns necessary to such defense should be provided in advance of any probability that they will ever be needed.

THE public man who enters a domestic circle in the guise of a friend and patron to destroy the sanctity of the home, can only shatter his own party by forcing on it a continuation of his leadership. Society fears him and hastens to make a warning example of him, no matter how frequently it may make light of similar episodes in the lives of private men. Even those who are not without blame themselves will cast stones at him.

Mr. . Parnell looked pale, but he chatted cheerfully with his friends. He remains im passive. He took no part in the proceeding beyond stating that the meeting had been called Friday last. The meeting reconvened to arrive. About seventy-five Irish member of the House were present. A great bundle o telegrams was handed in. During the early part of the proceedings those who had gath red outside the meeting-room heard loud cheers. One of the first subjects discussed was whether reporters should be allowed to take notes of the proceedings relative to the the Nationalist party. It was finally decided admit only one reporter representing the Freeman's Journal of Dublin. This decision is ot satisfactory to a large section of the mem bers, and it will probably be reconsidered.

The proceedings were of the stormies character. Mr. Parnell's supporters strove hard to secure another adjournment, urging that the meeting to decide the question of th esdership of the Irish party should be held in Dublin. Mr. Sexton hotly protested against an adjournment. A majority of the party, he declared, desired to keep the leadership un were frequently interruped by tremendous comprised a majority of those present.

Mr. Redmund replied to Mr. Sexton. This assertion was greeted with cries of "No, no. Gladstone's letter was withheld."

Mr. Redmund was unmoved by this inter-ruption and went on to say that, notwithstanding their previous action, taken with full knowledge of Parnell's position, a section of the party, at the bidding of the Liberals now wanted to sacrifice their leader, and with him the National cause. The posttion is, however, freed from many of the O'Connell and the Young Ireland party. The people are now educated and politically organized. While Mr. Parnell's manifesto has repulsed many of his former supporters it has been serviceable to Ireland by giving certain matters the light of day. This will enable us to know where we stand. Mr. Gladstone sincerely we stand, pacify Ireland, has to deal with followers less honest and sincere than himself. Mr. Parnell has shown himself capable of gauging and dealing with these men. They dread him because he knows their measure. How they will act in the future in dealing with men who lack Mr. Parter? CORK, Dec. 1 .- The enormous throng of people who were gathered at the rallway station in this city in the hope of seeing and hearing Mr. Parnell as he passed through en oute from Brighton to London, was briefly addressed by the Mayor of cork, who after giving expression to the common regret that Mr. Parnell had failed to put in an appearance, introduced Mr. Patrick O'Hea, ex-member of the House of Commons for the Western Division of Donegal. Mr. O'Hea declared his belief that the demonstration, which was witnessed for years, indicated that the pulse in sympathy with and support of Charles too, that they would have no other leader. OFF TO SOUTH BEND.

This morning the delegation left for South Bend, Ind., and will spend the day at the Notre Dame University. They will return to Chicago to-light if the present programme of arrangements is carried out. To-morrow Messrs. Dillon and Harrington will leave for Daybon, O., and the others will remain until Wednesday. Two parties will be made up of Messrs. Sullivan, O'Brien, O'Connor and Gill to visit Western and Northwestern points. It has not yet been decided who will traveit together. The members of the delegation can give no definite information concerning the length of their stay in America, but have arranged to visit Toronto and other Canadian cities in February. OLLEGOTIONS IN CHICAGO.

It is estimated that the collections at the two Irish meetings held in this city Saturday night will foot up between $18,000 and $20,000, although the final result will not be known for several days yet. Mr. O'Connor said that New York gave $37,000, but there were not such temendous obstacless as in Chicago. In reply to a remark that their manifesto would make interesting trangle, he said:

But I value unify and the independence of our Irish party in Parliament much more than any personal friendships. Of course, I fully recognize the difficulty which Mr. Gladstone's letter has created and I appreciate to the fullest extent the injury that may be done no our cause at the approaching general election by anything which would dampen the enhantsam of even a considerable section of Irish Liberal electors. Against Parnell.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 1 .- The decisions of the rish envoys here with the exception of that of Timothy, Harrington, were sent by cable yesterday to Justin McCarthy:

fustin McCarthy, M. P., Vice Chairman of Irish Parliamentary Party:

Our sense of the matchless genius of Mr. Parnell as a leader. of the imperishable services he has rendered to the Irish cause, of the courage, integrity and splendid success with which he has led our people for ten years, and the tie of comradeship and personal respect and affection which for years bound us to him, have made us suspend to the latest possible moment our judgment against his further leadership. The obligation to express that judgment is to all of us the most painful duty of our lives. No earthly consideration could have moved our determination except the solemn conviction that we are driven to choose between Mr. Parnell and the destruction of our country's cause. So painfully allve were we to all that might be involved in the loss of such a leader that we eagerly co-operated with our rully alive were we to all that might be involved in the loss of such a leader that we eagerly co-operated with our colleagues in every effort to retain his influence in our counsels. The manifesto which hir. Parnell has just issued cats us off from the last hopes to which we clung. Anxious to avoid words that might embitter this controversy we shall not dwell upon the cruel injustice with which he treats the members of the party that has followed him with a loyalty and affection such as no leader ever experienced before. His recollection of their fealty to him in many an hour of trial might well have saved them from the imputation that any section of them could have allowed their integrity to be sapped by the Liberal wire-pullers, nor would we do more than enter a protest against this violation of all constitutional principle in flouting by anticipation the decision of elected representative people, from whose votes the Chairman of the Parliamentary party receives his authority, and resorting to a vague general appeal over their heads. Considerations like these we should readily have waived in the interest of national solidarity—but the method in which, ignoring the origin of the present calamitons situation, Mr. Parnell endeavored to fasten the responsibility for it upon Messre. Gladstone and Morloy, compels us to dissociate ourselves in the strongest manuer from an imputation which we believe to be reakless and unjust.

We view with abhorrence the attacks that and unjust.

We view with abhorrence the attacks that have been made on Mr. Parnell by his public and private enemies under cover of his present difficulties. To attacks of this kind addressed to a man of a proud and strong spirit we attribute many of the terrible dangers with which Ireland is now threatened, and we fear that they may do the further mischief of diverting the minds of many people from grave national to purely personal issues in the natural resentment of an ungenerous attack on a great leader in an hour of attack of a Liberal Cabinet to realize that programme.

Whatever differences of opinion may exist as to the haste with which Mr. Gladatone's letter was communicated to the public, it was obviously not his hostility to home rule, but his carnest desire to save is from disaster, that prompted Mr. Gladstone to write his letter. We deplore that the difficulties of Mr. Gladstone's position were not frankly recognized by Mr. Farnell, and that, on the contrary, friendly private communications—communications obviously made with a view of smoothing the pussage of the home rule bill—have been made the basis of insinuations of treachery to the Irish cause. By his conviction again and again expressed that home rule to be effective must be such a measure as will satisfy the Irish people, Mr. Gladstone is bound to a full and ample measure of self-government to Ireland. To offer any other scheme would be an act not only of incredible baseness, but of incredible folly, and we emphatically separate ourselves from any such charge against Mr. Gladstone.

any such charge against Mr. Gladstone.

THE MORLEY GRARGE.

We think it deplorable that Mr. Morley's suggestion that some of the Irish party might to operate in carrying out the Irish programma of a Liberal Home Eule ministry could be so strangely misinterpreted by Mr. Parnell. Every member of the Irish party will, of course, agree with Mr. Parnell that the acceptance by any Nationalist member of office from any English Ministry would be a breach of elementary principles upon which our party is founded. But nobody who knews Mr. Morley's character will doubt that the suggestion was made in the honest belief that a Liberal Ministry would be helped in the difficult work of carrying through the details of an Irish home rule bill by the co-operation of Irish celleagues, and it was not an insidious attempt on the integrity and independence of the Irish party.

We have now to confront the statement that Mr. Parnell's leadership opens an impassable gulf between the representatives of Ireland and the Liberal party, who have faithfully observed their side of the agreement as to the national claims of Ireland, and the situation is aggravated by deplorable expressions of livinit toward the British people, who have national ciaims of Ireland, and the situation is aggravated by deplorable expressions of ill will toward the British people, who have again and again within the past five years manifested their determination to do justice toward Ireland and have by their votes paralyzed the arm of cosocion. In deliberately bringing things to this position Mr. Parnell has entered upon a rash and fatal path, upon which every consideration of Ireland's satery, as well as personal honor, forbids us absolutely to follow him.

done. The dinner was a quiet one and all felt the weight of present matters to a saddening degree. No speeches were made and the Irish delegates hurried away as soon as they could and returned to the hotel.

The message was telegraphed to London a page at a time as it was furnished. The money now being raised will be sent to the Plan of Campaign Committee. The delegates will seatter to various parts of the country, and it is thought that Harrington will return home.

Parnell's Alleged Threat.

A forecast of the vote to be taken to-day shows swenty-four for Parnell as leader, forty-eight against him and seven doubtful, Messrs. Justin McCarthy, McNeill, McKenna and Tulte are against him.

A Member of Parliament Talks.

LONDON, Dec. 1 .- A member of Parliament said he met him on his return from greeting Parnell's manifesto, and some excitement may be looked for in the House of Commons to-day. He calls attention to the utter ob-scurity of O'Shea since the verdict and of the motoriety or preminence of Parnell.

Morley Replies to Parnell. LONDON. Dec. 1 .- In's letter to the Press Parnell's manifesto and says he will correct it as far as it relates to him. He says he did not attempt to hamper Parnell in the land bill, but on the contrary both he and Parnell agreed that the bill should be opposed as omitting the principle of local control, but differed on the form of motion for the rejec-tion of the bill. He denies that he made a proposal of absorbing the Irish party in En-glish politics by reasons of office, and further, that Farnell is incorrect in his statement as the the plan of campaign of evicted tenants.

Parnell's Support Falling Away. LONDON, Dec. 1 .- These are dark days for Parnell. All the enmity which has been conealed and withheld is now shown unrestrainedly. Parnell cannot be seen. He keeps very edly. Parnell cannot be seen. He keeps very close and it is seldom that any one but his Secretary knows where he is. The action of the American delegation has had a terrible upon him and his position and his support is rapidly dropping away from him.

At this critical time it was announced that Parnell was spending the day with Mrs. O'Shea. It was a bitter pill for Parnell' riends but the story was given general creddence. Parnell claims a solid representation of party men and it locks as if there would be a spit in Iroland. He is determined to fight Dillon, Sexton and McCarthy to the bitter end.

STRESS AND DISASTER.

But, while making every possible allowance for Mr. Parnell's feelings on this acore, we consider it unjust to the English people, and lamentable from the point of view of international good feeling, to describe as English woives howling for his destruction those who is have not been able to bring themselves to the same view which gratitude and the necessity for union compelled Mr. Parnell's own colleagues and countrymen.

The plea of Mr. Parnell that Mr. Gladstone's letter involves a claim to diotate to the Irish party, and thereby strikes at the inducedness of the rish Nationalist with alarm, if that plea were not an obvious failacy. The Irish party was formed for the purpose of winning home rule for Ireland. Any attempt to divert the Irish party from that object in the interest of English parties would be an invasion of the independence of the Irish party, and would we believe be an invasion of the independence of the Irish party, and would we believe be of the Irish party, and would we believe be of the Irish party, and would we believe be of the Irish party, and would we believe be of the Irish party, and would we believe be of the Irish party, and would we believe be of the Irish party, and would we believe be of the Irish party, and would we believe be of the Irish party was formed to repelled by no one more sternly than by our colleagues and ourselves who are now in proposition to Mr. Parnell. ### Orders to Move.

CHETENNE, Wyo., Dec. 1 .- Col. Officy of the Seventeenth Infantry, stationed at Ft. Rus-bell, received orders last night from the department commander to have his men equipped for winter service and in readiness move at once. The supplies and cam; alpage of the regiment were sent to Rushville a week ago.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 1 .- The Bee has received Rushville: Red Hawk and Guy Belt, agency olice, have just returned from spy work a the camp of the hostiles in Bad Lands. One had his horse shot from under him, and both were chased away with bullets. The hostiles said they were prepared for the last great battle in history. All are thirsting for blood.

Off to the Bad Lands.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, S. D., Dec. 1 .- The Infian police on duty a few hundred yards from Royer's office late Saturday night and said that a panic in the camp of the "Friendiles" was inevitable unless they were given protection. All had received an urgent invitation to join the hostiles and go on the warpath with them. Agent Royer sent them an extra guard of 100 armed scouts, but even this did little good. The Indian village continued melting away and Sabbath morning revealed the fact that over two-thirds of the 3,000 who were here at sunset had disappeared. The hostiles have decided to move their camp into the "Bad Lands" and there await the coming of the troops to capture them. They began moving there yesterday morning, and by night all of them were hidden away in that region, which the best scouts describe as being worse than the lava beds in which the Modocs took shelter. These Bad Lands begin at the mouth of Wounded Knee Creek, about which so much has been heard of late, and which is the gathering point for all these hostiles and where the ghost dance started upon this reservation. They run ten miles northeast to scuthwest and about fifty miles east to west. It is an utterly barren region of precipitous cannos and fantastic and ghostly formations. Few white men are acquainted with the region, the indians, however, know it thoroughly. The fact that it is possible for the Indians, when once established there as they now are, to continue making raids upon the settlers adjoining the Bad Lands, will certainly, it would seem, induce the soldiers to push into the region after this big thleving band of rebels, notwithstanding the fearful chances to be incurred. The scouts that brought information concerning this latest plan of the hostiles also said that the latter had just had an account of the region of death. Gen. Brooke has just received a telegram of 700 words from Gen. Ruger warning him that 300 lodges (about one thousand warriors) of Cheyennes were coing from Cheyenne Agency to join the hostiles near here. The Sixth Cavalry, en route from Albuquerque to four and other provisions that had been st the agency buildings dashed into Agent er's office late Saturday night and said that a panic in the camp of the "Friendlies" pointed. Charley Turning Hawk, who keeps store on Porcupine, came in yesterday afternoon and reported that the hostile gang had raided his store and taken nearly $1.000 worth of goods. A party of eight scouts, under Frank Girard, Chief Government scout, has just started out to get further information and very important developments are expected. The troops are still under orders to be ready to move at a moment's notice.

TANDING ROCK, N. D., Dec. 1 .- Buffalo Bill did not arrest Sitting Bull, as was his inten-tion. Cody had an order from Gen. AMERICA VS. ENGLAND, A St. Louisas Puts a Boastful British Officer to Ront.

Yesterday James E. Blythe of this city re selved a letter from London giving an account of the complete discomfiture of a beassful Englishman by a St. Louisan who has been spending some months on the other side of he ocean. Last summer Judge N. C. Cleary took his departure for England on a business trip. A few weeks ago he was invited to form one of a party to visit the Tower of London. He was assigned to the escort of a young English officer who had never seen active service, but who was bent on impressing his guest with the superiority of everything English as compared with the best of any other nation. He pointed out the flags taken from foreign powers, and made remarks as to the impossibility of the United States making any display of this kind. Finally the party came to a couple of old and rusty fleid-pieces. They were on old-fashioned, worm-eaten carriages, and evidently dated from the last century. "Look at those cannon," said the Englishman; "they once belonged to the Americans, but they are ours now, as we took them from you at Bunker Hill." Judge Cleary, without a moment's hesitation replied: "That's all right, you have the cannon, but we have the hill, and we intend to keep it. I think we got the best of the bargain." The officer stared, choked and glared furlously, but could think of no reply, and during the rest of the excursion his slience was as remarkable as his previous volubility had been. rip. A few weeks ago he was invited to form

Congressman Frank's Plan.

The apportionment plan of Congressman Frank is the subject of much favorable comnent. He is a member of the committee which will submit the apportionment bill to Congress, and his plan for that reason is receiving much consideration. He holds that it is not the wisest course to keep the same number of Congressmen and raise the basis of representation accordingly, but offers a plan which is a compromise hetween the two extremes suggested. The present House consists of 330 members, based on the apportionment made after the taking of the 1880 census. The increase of population since then ** is close to 20 per cent, and Mr. Frank proposes to increase the House 10 per cent or just one-half. The increase in the number of population for each Congressman would have to be in the same ratio. In the event of the adoption of this plan the membership will be increased to 859 members. which will submit the apportionment bill to Woman's Missionary Society. The Woman's Missionary Society of St. Loui held an interesting though not largely atended meeting at St. John's M. E. Church Sunday afternoon. Dr. Carradine spoke upo Sunday afternoon. Dr. Carradine spoke upon the usefulness and stability of foreign mis-sions, saying that they are as fundamentain part of our religion as Sunday-schools. He quoted from the scripture in support of his statement, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel unto every nation." "Personal Responsibility in the Spread of the Gospel" was the subject used by Rev. Dr. Messick. He contended that Protestan-tism, and more particularly Methodism. tism, and more particularly bethedism, particularly emphasized the duty of reaching individual souls.

The collection was sufficiently large to elect Drs. Carradine, Messick, Hill, Matthews and Mrs. Carradine life members of the society.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 1.-A habeas orpus case of unusual importance was com menced in the Supreme Court this morning. March 13, 1885, Amos Durbin was arraigned in the Lafayette County Circuit Court on three ndictments for burglary in the second degree. He pleaded guilty to all. On the first we counts he was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years each, and on the last for two years. The committments were all made out dating sentence from March 13, 1885. THE DUNKLIN COUNTY FIGHT. The fight which has been going on in Dunk-lin County for nearly two years over the office of Circuit Clerk and Recorder was brought before the Supreme Court again on an appli cation for a writ of ouster against J D. Blackemore. This case is becoming quite noted, as it has settled the fact that county officers are State officers and the Courts of Appeals have no juricdiction to determine writs affecting their title to office. In January, 1889, the Circuit Judge of the Dunklin County circuit suspended Circuit Clerk and Recorder Bragg for malfeasance and appointed J. D. Blackemore. Bragg resigned and the Governor appointed Saunders. Blackemore has ever since refused to surrender the office and constant litigation has been the result. The Attorney-General has now taken the matter in hand and will endeavor to oust Blackemore.

BUFFALO, O. T., Dec. 1 .- A romantic marriage took place yesterday, the hero and heroine being John Holland and Mary Caron, living in the southern part of the son, living in the southern part of the public land strip. Mary is the daughter of a well-to-do ranchman and was to have been married yesterday to a wealthy cattleman named Royson. Shortly before the hour for the wedding, John Holland, her old lover and whom she still wanted to marry instead of her father's choice, rode up on a borse, leading another equine at his side. He had come ostensibly to attend the wedding, but, shortly after his arrival, he left again, the horse at his side being ridden by what appeared to be a young cowboy, but who in reality was Mary Carson in male attire. The trick was soon discovered and chase given to the elopers, but the latter were prepared for the pursuers, both' being well armed. Old man Carson and one of his henders were sightly wounded, and Royson's horse was shot from under him. The lovers made their escape and rode to Buffalo, where made their escape and rode to Buffalo, where they were married.

A SOCIETY ELOPEMENT. Miss Carrie Kelly and Chas, Hinaman

Married After an Exciting Time. Miss Carrie M. Kelley, daughter of Alfred M. Kelley, President of the Kelley-Goodfellow Shoe Co., on Saturday afternoon disappeared, together with Chas. M. Hinsman, a well-known flour dealer and her accepted lover. The young lily's parents reside at 4386 Lindell avenue, on of the most fashionable resideil avenue, on of the most fashionable residence portions of St. Louis.

For some time pass Mr. Hinsman has been paying attention to the young lady, but the parents entered objections to the match. On the plea that she must do some shepping Miss Kelley came down town Saturday afternoon, where she met her lover by appointment. They immediately went to Belleville, Ill., but the County Sterk there refused to issue to them a marriage license. Thinking there would be no trouble in procuring the necessary paper, Miss Kelley had telegraphed her parents from this latter place that she had aiready changed her name. On the advice of Mr. Morse, a mutual friend, the souple decided to immediately return to St. Louis, and acting upon this advice they arrived here Saturday night in a cab at 11 o'clook. Here, again another obstacle confronted the couple, and it took them some time to decide what course to pursue. The office of Recorder of Deeds Hobbs was long since closed, so all prospect of a liceuse from that source for the time being was given up. It was finally arranged sthat Miss Kelley should stop with a friend, Miss Henry, while her lover went to the hotel, the agreement being that they were to be married early Sanday morning.

Messrs. Hissman and Morse arose early being that they were to be married early Sunday morning.

Messrs. Hissman and Morse arose early Sunday morning, but a visit to the Recorder's office found it closed. A call at the residence of Mr. Hobbs, 3020 Clark avenue, was made, and that obliging gentleman was not long in issuing the necessary document. A minister to perform the ceremony was found in Rev. P. G. Robert, rector of Holy Communion Episcopal Church, and at 50 clock Sunday afternoon the much-troubled young couple were duly pronounced man and wife.

A reconciliation has been effected, and the young people are now safely domiciled within the Kelley mansion.

This morning the members of the Grievance Committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for the Southwestern system began their annual meeting at the Laciede Hotel. Chairman C. R. The meeting will probably continue in season for several days. Those present this morning were Chairman C. R. Raymond, N. W. Castle, Sedalis, Hale Wheeler, Atchison, J. E. Donovan, Ossawatomie, Kan.; J. H. Filkington, Sedalia, and H. Grover, Huntipg-ton, Kan.

When examining the ÆOLIAN, a man with a quick mind at once perceives that he has not only found an instrument which will serve to gratify his musical tastes, but will do more than anything else to educate the younger members of his family to the highest class of music. This is a highly important feature of the instrument, and of itself is sufficient reason why every musical family ment, and of itself is sufficient rea-son why every musical family should have one of them. The ÆOLIAN makes the works of the eminent composers as readily ac-cessible as a library does the high-est literature. With two or three weeks' practice you can render this class of music according to the composer's idea, giving the most delicate changes of tempo and tone color, and more than this, the orchestral effect, a thing impossi-ble on any other single instru-ment.

The cage was on the third floor when, owing to a failure of a part of the machinery, the rope was suddenly slackened and the cage went down. It caught at the second floor, but the next instant was released and plunged down to the basement. Taylor caught the top of the cage as it fell, and so eased off the shock and escaped unhurt. In September this elevator dropped in a similar manner, and the Ninth street elevator has also failen. tor, H. G. Taylor, narrowly escaped injury.

Joseph Meyer, a homeless wanderer, was fined $100 and costs in the First District Police Court this morning on the charge of vagrancy. In default of payment the prisoner will serve a six months' term in the Work-House.

According to the testimony of three of the most experienced physicians in the city the fellow is an expert at simulating epilepsy.

On last baturday afternoon an ambulance was sent to Broadway and Grand avenue on the strength of a telephone message from a police officer that a man had failen in an epileptic fit. As soon as the patient arrived at the City Dispensary Dr. Steinmetz recording the first and the condition of the strength of a telephone message from a police officer that a man had failen in an epileptic fit. As soon as the patient arrived at the City Dispensary Dr. Steinmetz recording the many simulating slickness and proceeded with a few experiments, the result of which satisfied him that the patient was a full-fiedged fraud. Meyer was placed in the holdover at the Four Courts. This morning he was given a hearing before Judge Cady. Dr. Steinmetz testified that the defendant had, according to the records, been brought to the Dispensary at least twenty times within the past year and gave the dates, Jan. 25 and 28, March 22 and 28, April 28, Nov. 23, 25 and 29 as a few he had found in a hesty examination of the books. He said that the infailible test in cases of colleptic convulsions was the touching of the eyeballs, which sensitive organs were utterly devold of feeling in a genuine attack. Meyer had squirmed vigorousity when the tost was applied. He had the convulsive jerking of the thumbs down to perfection and was otherwise well-skilled in his disgusting imposition. The fellow, it is alleged, has been using this method of obtaining charity, a collection being taken up for him in aimost every instance where he had fallen on a crowded street. When other resources failed he would go into convulsions in order to spend a few days in comfortable quarters at the City Hospitai. He made no defense when tried to-day.

peaker related the experience of David while he was "in trouble" and in "adversities, and then preached for thirty minutes on the troubles of life and how to overcome them. He said many things about practical charity toward people in need and in distress. Said he: "Some so-called charitable people think they are doing enough when they contribute to isome organized charity a small sum to be bestowed on the needy by a hired agent, or missionary. It you want to contribute to isome organized charity a smail sum to be bestowed on the needy by a hired agent, or missionary. It you want to have a large blessing go in person to some needy one with provisions, or clothes, or money, or other expression of your sympathy; go as you go elsewhere; if you are rich, put on your diamonds, your jewels, yoursealskin cloak and your best apparel; drive to the home of poverty in your best equippage; let the sufferer see you at your best and feel that you are able to help, and willing to help; and that you are not too proud to approach the place of suffering. Pai your own personality into your charity and make it thus the more helpful. "Do not make the poor feel that there is a great gulf between you and them, David said, "Thou hast considered my trouble." If you want to help a troubled one effectively consider the trouble you are to relieve. If we could only get those able to help us to consider our trouble we would seldem go in need of a helping hand. The world will not consider one's trouble. It will quickly rebuke and condemn and censure the troubled, but give no just consideration to the trouble. God considers the troubles of his servants and provides an itself some of an earlief. Some of our Christian efforts to help the troubled who are in powerty and need are really cruel. A poor fellow, half starved, knocks at charity's door; his name, his age, his home, his ped'gree is asked, his circumstances are investigated, and at the end of a few hours of further hunger and suffering he is turned over to an officer of some society for relief, and gets a dime or a dollar with an air that seems to say "poor devil, we can't see you starve, but you ought to have had better luck." Organized charity is all right, but the people who give help miss the blessing of their benefaction by falling to get get into personal contact with the needy." Speaking of the trumph of faith over enemies and difficulties Mr. Deering said:

"Negotiations are being made." said the gentleman this morning, "for the opening of an Amberg theater in Chicago, but nothing is an Amberg theater in Chloago, but nothing is positive as yet even about that, for the matter is not definitely settled. If Mr. Amberg goes to Chloago he will build a new theater building for his company and not go into any of the present theaters. There is no foundation at all, however, for the statement that he is going to establish a theater here in St. Louis next fall, or at least none that I know of. Another member of the company said that Mr. Amberg had for years been wanting to establish a German theater in St. Louis and had talked about it in his presence a number of times, but it was altogether unlikely that his hopes would be realized in the near tuture, as he has his hands full at present. Besides his New York theater and the proposed Chicago venture, Mr. Amberg has just leased the Continental Theater in Philadeiphia for four years, and is to open there Dec. 15 with a company from Munich, Germany, in the "Crucifixion of Ammergan."

Congressman Wade of the Thirteenth Missouri District is in the city to-day on his way to Washington to attend the adjourned see.

He accepts his defeat for re-election in a philosophical way and says that it was against his will that he made the race in the made the last campaign. Speaking to a POST-DISPATO representative at the Laclede Hotel the morning he said: "I am going through t attend the short session, and when I get the I will meet a number of Republicans who lik myself were defeated for re-election. What was it that defeated me? What the very same thing that beat the others; was the cyclone. The Democratic speakers the McKinley oill and discussed it in a man festly unfair manner. Then the shop keeper took advantage of it to run up prices at advised people to buy early and often t avoid high prices. Though defeated I am as strong in my advocacy of protection as ever. don's believe that there will be any attempt from the Republican side to amend it. I can only say that if the Republicans showed a disposition to do this it would put them in the attitude of a lot of jackasses.

"HERE WERE OTHER CAUSES.

"Now out in my district there were other causes aside from the Democratic misrepresentation of the McKinley bill. There were some gentlemen out there who could not be given the offices they wanted and they feit aggrieved and even hostile. The feeling between the two sections of Springfield in the matter of the post-office site also out a big figure. A potential factor was the feeling of the farmers. With them it was not the tariff, but the money question. They had all sorts of plans to propose relative to currency matters, and I was asked to pledge myself to their notions. I could not do this and could only tell them that I was a Republican and that the platform was satisfactory to me. I stood squarely on the Republican declaration of principles and never got away from that position. I must confess though that I was surprised as my deleat, as I made an earnest, energetic canvass and had as many assurances of success as were ever before given me."

"What effect did the conduct of Speaker Reed and the Lodge Fedral elections bill have on your campaign?"

"I don's think these matters figured to any extent. Concerning Speaker Reed's ruilings I will say now as I have said before that he pursued a proper course. He made it possible to transact some business in the House, and gave the minority to understand that while is had rights it did not have the power or authority to obstruct the majority. What the Senate for action.

Concerning the Congressional apportionment under the new consus Mr. Wade said he would favor a measure that would do justice to all sections. He will leave this evening with Congressman R. C. P. Wilson of the Yourth District for Washington.

The money given the Committeemen for electioneering purposes passed through the hands of one of the subcommittee and the claim has been made that the distribution was not entirely fair. It is likewise claimed that the campaign was mismanaged and another effort will be made to overthrow the Filley-McFail-Pohlman-Smith combination. Some of the committeemen not in sympathy with "de old man" machine say it will be difficult to make anything like a winning eampaign unless some radical reforms are made in the committee. The supporters of Chairman McFall say that their majority is so large that it is useless for the opposition to start out with any serious intention of everthrowing him.

Political Notes.

Congressman Wilson of the Fourth Congressional District is in the city to-day receiving econgratulations from his St. Louis friends on the big victory he won last month in defeating ex-Congressman Nick Ford one of the atrongest Republicans in Northwest Missouri.

Mr. Wilson will leave this evening for Washington.

Recorder of Voters Williams is preparing to retire from that office at the beginning of the new year, and is getting matters in shape for his successor. The close political friends of Gov. Francis say that it is too early yet to tell who will succeed Maj. Williams, but there is a widespread opin ion that Judge Campbell will get the place. He retires from the bench of the Court of Criminal Correction at the same time Maj. Williams' term expires as Recorder of Voters.

The only conclusion that can be arrived at it shat Peter's match with Goddard has been declared off.

When Jackson and Goddard met, after their recent fight, to divide the stakes, Jackson and that he would sign articles for a fight to a fluish, providing the Melbourne Club, before which he was matched to fight Slavin, would give its consent. There is good room for believing that Jackson has not signed with Goddard, preferring to go in for more glory and money with Slavin, and having nothing to do in the meantime, has decided to visit Galifornia for a month and settle his business affairs.

This idea seems to satisfy local sports. Goddard has several matches on hand, one of which is with Ned Ryan, brother of Jim Ryan, the middle-weight, who is expected on the mext steamer.

The mill was of eight rounds' duration and took place at the Crystal Palace, Melbourne, Oct. 18. The place contained one of the most representative assembliages I have ever seen gathered together on any occasion in the Colonies, and I have been a constant attendant for years at the race for the Melbourne cup. Why, there were clergymen there who preach to the congregations in Melbourne, and I hadn't heard up to the time I left that any objection was made by the congregations or bisnops. To hear people talk before the fight you would think that Jackson was the only man in it. I was inclined to that opinion myself and wanted to lay up a few quid on the black [cllow, but could not find any one who fanoled Goddard at 10 to 1.

"The result was a surprise to me—to every one, in fact, Prof. Miller, who acted as referee, called it a draw, but take it from me Goddard came so near eating up thus dusky champion that at the end of the seventh round I wouldn't have given a tanner for Peter's chances. Goddard does not fight like anybody I ever saw before. Water polo promises to become as popular in America as in England. The New York Sun published some time ago the rules of the game played across the Atlantic, but with the growing interest it was found necessary to make extensive revisions and a great many new points have been covered. F. J. Wells, Captain of the New York Athletic Club team, is credited with getting up the most comprehensive rules for the sport and they have been generally accepted. They read as follows:

1. The ball to be an Association football (No. 3) pot less than 8 and not more than 9

As was stated in the **Herald** last Monday, Chairman David, in a letter to Fred Janssen, the Amateur Athletic Union, made similar charges and asked the Union to investigate them. Mr. Janssen replied that if the L. A. W. knew the charges to be true it was the duty of that body to disqualify the men, and that the Union would not allow the men to compete in A. A. U. games. Hence the suspension of the above riders.

TEARS AND LAUGHTER.

Opening Performances at the Theater Events Announced for To-Night. While the judgment does not assent to every art of Edward E. Kidder's comedy, "A Po-Relation," yet it appeals so strenuously to bright and tender emotions that the judgment s overwhelmed by appreciative feeling. It is by long odds the best vehicle Sol Smith Russell has had. The character of Noah Vale fits him to a nicety and gives him opportunity to do genuine character work to appeal to the humorous while delicately touching the sympathetic sembbilities of his audiences. Vale is a character somewhat exaggerated in places but true in the main and in his naive simplicity and gentieness of heart, combined with kindly nature and suffering he blends humor and pathos in a way which expresses the highest form of comedy. Russell is both intensely amusing and charming as Noah Vale and projects upon the mental retina of his audience a distinct type of the simple, lovable, patient and long-suffering dreamer.

The story itself has interest, and with Vale
there are several entertaining characters, brightest among which are Dolly Faye, which is fairly taken by Miss Lillian Cwen, but is not sustained as well as it was last season, and Scallops, which Meni Osborne filis to a dot.
The other parts are acceptably handled by Alfred Hudson, Frank Lawton, who is a whistling artist, E. D. Tannehill, R. T.
Sullivan, Mrs. Mary E. Barker, Miss Linda Dietz, Master Hudson and little Hazel Chapple, the lattler two contributing to, one of the most captivating access in the play.
The play is handsomely produced, and there is marked improvement in some parts of it.
There was a large audience at the opening of the engagement at the Grand last evening, and the enthusiasm aroused gave promise of a repestition of the remarkable success reached here by Mr. Russell last season.

AGNUS WALLACE VILLA AT HAVLIN'S.

"The World Against Her," with Agnes
Wallace Villa in the emotional role of Madge Carleton, a wrongfully suspected wife driven from home, drew two tremendous houses to Haylin's yesterday. It is a play crowded with sensational events, and the company supporting Miss Villa brought out its melodramatic features in the strongest possible lights, the star herself being a strong central figure, whose appearance was the invariable signal for either tears or thrills. Cast out by a husband w fits him to a picety and gives him opportunity faithless to her marriage yows. Madge Carleton's wanderings, dangers and sorrows form the motive of an interesting story. Sheltered and befriended by the proprietors of a strolling Ponch and Judy show, pursued by a villainous lover, her child stolen and secreted in the den of a band or London "coiners" and thieves, the wife's troubles keep the audience wrought up to conventional pitch until the reconciliation scene appropriately ends the play. Miss Villa was supported by Louis Glover as James Carleton, the busband; Emile La Croix as Gilbert Blair, the villainous lover; Bob and Sallie Miliatt, strolling players; little Miss Veo, as Ned, their adopted son, and Little Dot as the heroine's dyear-old daughter, Annie, with a good general cast.

Strond & Coilier's war melodrama, "The Blue and the Gray," opened at the Standard vesterily a sternoon and evening. With the standard—"THE BLUE AND GRAT.".

Shook & Collier's war melodrama, "The Blue and the Gray." opened at the Standard yesterday afternoon and evening. With the scene changing from a New Enriand farmhouse to the South during the late war, the story and the characters are such as have already been made familiar by the latest phase of the military drama. Union and Confederate officers, Yankee and rebel girls, Irish soldiers and negro servants filled a stage on which the clank of sabres, the rattle of guns, and the distant roar of battle kept up the mimic picture of war as it raged in 1861-65. The company presenting the play is quite good, the leading figure being E. L. Snader as Capt. Mark Stanley of the Fourth Massachusetts, Edward Cifford as Col. Peyton of the Confederate service, Geo. W. Morton as the Guerilla Captain Wilson, Miss Lisle Leigh as Ruth Peyton, Ada Morton as Mary Stanley and Miss Lottle Williams and the eld St. Louis favorite, Mill G. Barlowe in the negro roles of Delia Snow and Uncle Josh. The play was enthusiastically received.

"PRINCE AND PAUPER.

The first appearance of clever little Elsie Leslie hore in the dramatization of Mark Twain's story the "Prince and Pauper," at the Olympic promises a most enjoyable and successful engagement at the Olympic. The opening performance will be given to night.

THE AMBERG OFERA CO.

The demand for seats for the engagement of the Amberg Double Opera Co. in Music Hall has been strong. The company contains fine arists and a splendid repertoire of the best light operas. "The Baggar student" will open the engagement to night, "The Gypsy Baron" following to unorrow.

NEXT WEEK'S ATTRACTIONS.

The bookings for next week include "A Midnight Bell," Hoyt's best comedy at the Olympic; Henry E. Dizey in his new and successful piece, "The Seven Ages," at the Grand; the sensational, "Clemenceau Case," at Haviln's, and Shaffer and Biakely's Specialty Co., at the Standard.

merce Law to Be Asked to Carry Out the Plans-A Huge Locemotive-The"Fresen Out" Steckholders of the Houston & Texas Giving Huntington Trouble.

The great compact among the Western railroads will be executed within a few days. It will be the most extensive arrangement of the kind ever formulated. All the roads engaged Chicago will be parties to it. If there are any rating privileges until they fall into line.

The compact, in effect, will be the same as the old trunk-line pool. The total traffic will be divided among the roads by percentages A clearing-house will be established, to which the business of the roads will be reported centage will have to pay over the exshort of its percentage will have its deficiency made up. There will be two ways of settlin to roads which fall under their percentages and another will be by paying over money to make up the differences where the first plan allowed to the roads less advantageously sit natural course of traffic their alloted modi-

The scheme is the idea of Jay Gould. His puts him in a position to enforce it, as that road is the key to the situation. It is the principal transcontinental route and the connecting roads cannot afford to be denied the privilege of interchanging business with it. The compact will not alone comprise the he construction of new lines in the territory embraced by the roads that sign it. No road will be allowed to make extensions without the consent of an executive committee consisting of representatives from all the roads. The compact is to last for five years, according to the bresent plan. The meeting to agree upon it will be held in New York within a few days, probably the first of next week. Railroad managers have airsady begun to arrive there for the purpose of attending it. S. H. H. Clark, General Manager of the Gould Sonthwestern system, and E. H. Millen, General Manager of the Gould Sonthwestern system, and E. H. Millen, General Manager of the Union Pacific, are now there. President R. R. Cable of the Rock Island will arrive to-morrow. President C. P. Huntington will appear for the Southern Pacific, President Thomas F. Oakes for the Northern Pacific, and George C. Magoun, Chairman of the Atchison Beard of Directors, for that road. The representatives of the other lines have not yet been named.

Although the provisions of the interstate-commerce law seem to conflict with the arrangement it is said they can be overcome. It is proposed, however, to ask for an amendment to the law which will remove all possible obstacles to the scheme. The ground upon which the appeal is to be made is that only by pooling can stability of rates be secured and that only by stability of rates be secured and that only by stability of rates be secured and that only by stability of rates be secured and that only by stability of rates be neverted. The abolition of the long and short haul clause will also be asked.

Mr. Gould and his son George spent some time at the Windsor Hotel New York, yesterday. Mr. Gould discussed the railroad agreement at length. He argued that it would be the best railroad agreement ever perfected for the business at a fair profit instead of at a loss. No one derived a benefit from the losses of railroads, whereas the vorsperity of the railroads resulted in widespread prosperity. Mr. Gould locked for better times during the coming year. He repeated his will be allowed to make extensions without organization scheme, as every legal obstacle will be placed in the Huntington combination's way.

Another and much more serious trouble threatens the holders of the new bonds. It has been discovered during a recent argument of the case before United states Circuit Judge Pardee at New Orleans that, under the act of the Legislature of Texas which granted the Houston & Texas Central Railway nearly 5,000,000 acres of land, there is a saving clause which provides that only the old railway ean retain the land. Under the foreclosure, which was agreed to by Huntington's friendly board of directors, the land was bought in by Frederick W. Olcott of the Central Trust Co. at a low figure. The plan of the reorganization required that the entire railway plant, franchise and lands should be turned over by Olcott to the new company.

But now this company has no right under the laws of Texas to own more land than is absolutely necessary for the purposes of the road for roadbeds, turneouts, switches, etc., and therefore it cannot acquire good title to the lands which were the property of the old company. The real situation appears when its known that these 5,000,000 acres represent a great part of the security of the boadholders. If the land cannot be transferred then the bondholders will lose security, which, at the low estimate of $1 an acre, melns $20,000,000. The land, however, is estimated as worth at least $25,000,000.

Another pertinent question which looms up is, if the new company does not get these lands who does? Huntington, or the Southern Pacific Railway, or the State of Texas?

A Huge Locemetive. The largest, most powerful, and probably the fastest locomotive ever manufactured in this or any other country has just been completed at the Schenectady Locomotive Works or the Michigan Central Railroad. It has been tested and found entirely satisfactory, and has been delivered to Peter M. Mil Ypsilanti, Mich., an engineer of the Michigan Central Railroad. The locomotive is what is known as a "compound," and some idea of its immensity can be obtained from these figures.

Painful Experience of the Bearer of a Revered Name. That the shadow of a great name does not always carry with it immunity from unworthy suspicion and consequent inconvenience, was proved by an incident that took place in Glensides a gentleman bearing the name of James extraction, as might be judged from his cognomen, but unless the hue of his cuticle is in spite of his ultmost vigilance. Mr. McKenzie was too well aware of the luxurious nature they had voluntarily changed their residence,

George Washington remained in the shed all day, but still was unable to satisfactorily explain his presence. As the sun went down Mr. McKenzie called upon him for the last time, and at his earnest solicita-
